

Rowena's Inn: The Perfect Place to Mix Business with Pleasure

For Immediate Release

September 13, 2011

Ranking amongst the finest of the Lower Mainland for meetings, small conventions and conferences, Pretty Estates Resort is a historic property that provides world-class golfing, elegant surroundings, luxurious cabins and suites, attentive service and fine dining at some of the best prices in the province.

Part of Rowena's charm is its fascinating history. Queen Victoria granted the land. The drawing room has the origins of the banister that was once in the original Hotel Vancouver on Granville and Georgia. The dining room table hosted royalty-King George VI dined at it when it was at the Hycroft Manor in Shaughnessy. One of the beds belonged to the famous opera singer Dame Nellie Melba. If the Inn could talk, the stories it would tell.

Next, is its stunning setting-160 acres overlooking the aquamarine waters of the Harrison River and nestled among 180 ft. Fir trees and the Coast Mountains. Now add modern day amenities, such as high-speed internet, audio/visual equipment, iPod docks, hot water taps, deep-soaker jacuzzi tubs, heated floors, and so much more.

With two rooms to choose from, meetings can be held in the Inn's lower drawing room that seats up to 22 people or the boardroom, which seats up to eight. For larger events, the outdoor tent accommodates up to 160 guests, which is perfect for weddings and mid-sized conferences.

While the focus is business during the day, it's a haven in the evening and the perfect location for team-building. Guests can unwind with a round of golf at Sandpiper Golf Course, known for its famous 'Sasquatch footprint' signature hole, a delicious westcoast-inspired meal at River's Edge Restaurant followed by an evening stroll, spa treatment or dip in the pool or hottub.

"Rowena's Inn has hosted a variety of groups from across the country. We are located in a beautifully hidden area in Harrison Bay, and having the Sandpiper Golf Course right next to the Inn has made us a natural choice for booking meetings and retreats. We pride ourselves on providing personalized attention and treating every guest as a member of our family. We have very competitive prices and can work within any budget", states Chris Lepine, General Manager.

By car, Rowena's Inn is only 1.5 hrs east of Vancouver and 35 minutes north of Abbotsford. Complete with its own 2100 ft air strip, Rowena's Inn is a 20-30 minute flight from downtown Vancouver.
